

FEPC Law With Penalties Passed in Gary

History Making City Ordinance Passed by City Council Of Gary

GARY — A local Fair Employment Practices ordinance with penalties ranging up to $300 fine, was adopted by City Council on Monday.

The vote was 6 to 2, with one Councilman absent. Mayor Eugene Swartz said he would sign the ordinance this week. It takes effect immediately.

The historic law, first to be passed by an Indiana city, outlaws "discrimination in employment because of race, color, religion, national origin, ancestry or age."

Covered by the ordinance are employers of eight or more persons, labor unions and employment agencies.

Exempted from operations of the law are "fraternal, sectarian and charitable groups," as well as employers of less than eight persons.

Domestic workers and "persons employed in personal and confidential positions" also are not covered.

Drafted by NAACP

The law was drafted by the legislative committee of the Gary NAACP branch. It was sponsored by two Negro Councilmen, Benjamin F. Wilson and Terry C. Gray.

It was before the council for six months, during which time scores of civic, labor and religious organizations called for its adoption.

Councilman Gray made the motion for passage of the ordinance. It was seconded by Councilman Joseph Cwiklinski, who earlier had opposed the measure.

Voting favorably were five Democrats and one Republican. Voting against were two Democrats, while one Republican, A. W. Brown, left the meeting and did not vote.

About 125 persons in the gallery watched the action.

Mrs. Edna Morris, president of the NAACP branch, thanked the council for passing the ordinance.

"We do not feel that this is simply a racial matter," Mrs. Morris declared.

"We feel it is a victory for all minorities. Gary, now stands out in front with the other enlightened cities of the country which have taken this step to end discrimination in employment."

The law provides for establishment of a five-member FEPC Commission, three to be appointed by the mayor and two by the council. They will serve without pay, but will be reimbursed for expenses.

Amendment May Weaken

An amendment authored by Councilman Hobart D. Wiggler, who opposed the bill, was seen as weakening the measure. It provides that the employers affected "shall be the sole judges of the qualification, training and experience" of persons applying for jobs.

Councilman Wilson said, however, he was "not too much disturbed" by Wiggler's amendment.

"The ordinance also provides that the job-seeker shall have the right of appeal to the FEPC Commission if he can show that the employer was unreasonable in this decision," Wilson pointed out.

Great Trouper, Wm. F. Benbow, Passes Here

William F. Benbow, former vaudeville actor, showman and producer, died during the first half of this century, was buried Wednesday afternoon following last rites at the C. M. C. Willis & Son Mortuary attended by local representatives of the theatrical world.

Mr. Benbow died last Saturday in his home, 1831 Carrollton avenue, at the age of 68. With him in his last hour as in their long performances on the stage, was his faithful wife, Mrs. Margie Benbow. Born in Montgomery, Ala., Mr. Benbow entered show business as a dancer and singer when only 18 years of age and began a remarkably successful career that spanned two continents.

For a number of years recently he operated the Stormy Weather restaurant at 319 Indiana ave., assisted by his wife. He was a member of Bethel A.M.E. Church, the Elks, and the Masonic Lodge at Jacksonville, Fla.

Surviving, besides the widow, are three sons, Francis and Richard Benbow, both of Indianapolis, and Clarence Benbow, Port Huron, Mich., and a brother, Lawrence Benbow, Pensacola, Fla.

Burial was in Crown Hill cemetery.

Madam Pandit Scores Bias in South Africa

LAKE SUCCESS (ANP) — Condemnation of the Union of South Africa's treatment of its 300,000 resident Indians was made before the UN's special political committee here Tuesday by Mme. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, India's ambassador to the U.S.

The ambassador said that Indian nationals in South Africa "are exposed to segregation and discrimination and denied fundamental rights of human freedoms in every sense of the term."

Mme. Pandit's charges were made in support of a resolution, jointly sponsored by India, Burma, Indonesia and Iraq, that held South African legislation segregating population groups "contravened the purposes and principles of the UN charter and the declaration on human rights."

The resolution sought to have the general assembly recommend that "all steps necessary to remedy the situation be taken speedily."

The Indian ambassador pointed out that her countrymen in South Africa "have been required to live in a situation full of bitter humiliation, deliberately fostered by a government that is now attempting the complete degradation of the indigenous and Indian populations and the early extinction of the latter."

Stating that South Africa has maintained that it is "none of our business how it treats Asiatics," she warned the committee of "wider implications of a policy which imposed a permanent stigma of inferiority on almost half the human race."

Attucks Cagers Beat Sheridan In Close Battle

SHERIDAN — Ray Crowe, Attucks' new basketball coach, and his Tigers won over the Sheridan five here Tuesday night in a hard-fought 63 to 61 game.

It was the subbing rebounding of the tall Tigers that paid off in the end against their eagle-eyed opponents, touted to be the toughest team they'll meet all season.

After a 15-point deadlock at the first period stop, the Tigers fought their way from a nine-point deficit midway in the second period to within two points, 33 to 31, at the halfway mark.

They breezed to a 47 to 41 third quarter lead and held a 59 to 53 lead with less than two minutes to go. However, the Blackhaws capitalized on two Tiger miscues and raised themselves to within two points: Then Big Bob Jewell, center, dumped in two quickies before Sheridan's Rolland Wallace sank four points, to hold the Tiger victory.

Wallace, with a total of 28 points made on 14 field goals, led the scorers.

Forward Leahman Covington paced the fairly even Tiger scoring with 16 points. Jewell and Guard John Davis each got 12, with Guard Hallie Bryant getting 13.

Mr. Hanson outlined the operation of public housing and noted that local plans call for the erection of 750 housing units in the city, a 250-unit project in the Redevelopment area and a 500-unit project on the Southside.

R. T. Avington, vice-president, presided at the meeting and Erskine Roberts introduced the speaker. The club announced that Dr. Merrill B. McFall, Bloomington minister, and been awarded the club's Racial Amity Award.

WAR VET, ATHLETE DIES IN HOME; SHOT BY WIFE

By OPAL L. TANDY

Robert George Dunn, World War II veteran and, former Attucks high school football star, was fatally wounded by his wife, Mrs. Jeanette Dunn, 41 years old, in their home in Lockefield Garden apartments last Saturday morning, police said.

A signed statement by Mrs. Dunn made at police headquarters indicated the slaying occurred during an argument about her husband's attentions to another married woman.

Funeral services for Dunn, affectionally remembered for his great prowess as an athlete, were held Tuesday afternoon at the South Calvary Baptist Church with the pastor, Rev. L. A. Manuel, officiating. His body had lain in state the day before at the home of his mother at 2257 Indianapolis avenue.

When she questioned him about his attentions toward Mrs. Hattie Creighton, 36 years old, Mrs. Dunn said her husband replied, "You had better get hep to yourself."

She produced a revolver she had been hiding and shot her husband. The Creighton woman, Mrs. Dunn told police, formerly lived in Lockefield herself and on one occasion came to her home demanding that Dunn keep his date with her.

Dunn Wounded in Stomach
Sgt. Ray Peak and squad found Dunn dying on the floor of the couple's apartment with one bullet wound in the stomach. He died before an ambulance arrived.

Mrs. Dunn was hysterical, Sergeant Peak stated, and kept repeating that she did not mean to do it. When he said what he did, the diminutive housewife sobbed out, "I told him, that's just what I am gonna do."

Detectives Randolph Schubert and Myron Partlow said they will question Mrs. Creighton but will file no charges against her, because her alleged relations with Dunn were no justification for the shooting.

Former Attucks Athlete
Dunn, who recently graduated from the Indiana School of Mortuary Science, had also attended Talladega College. He was a star halfback on Crispus Attucks football teams during the early '30s. He also starred in track and basketball.

Mrs. Dunn was the slain man's fourth wife. They had no children, but Mrs. Dunn has two children by a former marriage.

Dunn served almost three years during World War II and was wounded in the Battle of the Bulge. He received the Bronze Star with three oak-leaf clusters and the Purple Heart. He belonged to Zeta Phi chapter of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity.

Mrs. Dunn's uncle, Charles Alexander, 42 years old, 369 W. 28th st., was in the apartment at the time of the shooting. He said that he heard the shot but did not see Mrs. Dunn when she fired the revolver.

Shooting Follows Scuffle
Alexander told police that he tried to stop the Duns from arguing but was criticized by Dunn for meddling. Later, he said, Dunn came in the kitchen where he was sitting, and gave him a drink of whiskey.

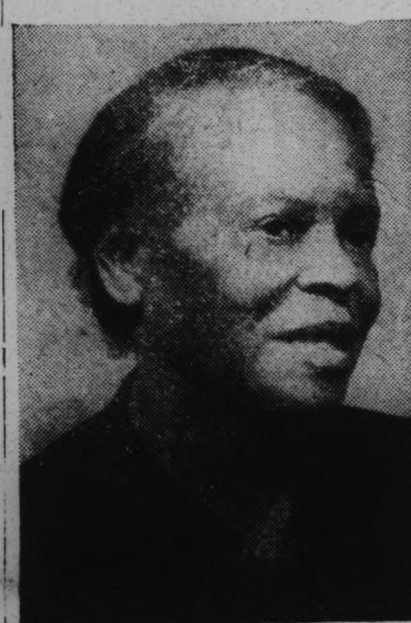

Shortly afterwards, Alexander said, he thought his niece and her husband were getting their coats and hats because they had planned to go out. This was about 12:30 a. m., Alexander said, and shortly afterward he heard scuffling followed by one shot.

When Alexander rushed into the living-room, he stated, both of the Duns had hold of the revolver tussling for possession of it. Dunn said, "Charlie, Jeanette has shot me." Alexander said that he grabbed the fighting couple in an effort to separate them, but they all fell to the floor. Mrs. Dunn got up, Alexander said, but Dunn didn't. Mrs. Dunn kept shouting to call her mother and the police.

Man Shoots Wife Seeking to Stop Brawl at Tavern

A young wife was accidentally shot last Saturday night when she stepped between her husband and another man, who were engaged in a brawl in front of a tavern.

The woman, Mrs. Georgia Edmonds, age 30, 325 West 11th st., was allegedly shot by her husband, John, when she stepped between him and an "unknown party" in front of "Club 11," police report.

Mrs. Edmonds was struck in the right leg; above the knee by one of two bullets fired by her husband.

She had gone to the tavern to see her husband, according to police. As she approached him and the other man, her husband yelled, "Get back," and fired, police say. He fired another shot after Mrs. Edmonds sought refuge behind a telephone pole.

When apprehended by police, Edmonds, age 27, told officers the man he was arguing with had pulled a knife on him. He reported, said his wife was shot accidentally when she stepped between him and the man with whom he was arguing.

Edmonds was arrested on charges of assault and battery with intent to kill and city vagrancy. His wife, Georgia, was arrested for city vagrancy.

After pointing out that he has

Judge Saul Rabb Quashes Indictment of 4 Notaries

Willard B. Ransom and three other Progressive Party workers were within sight of freedom this week after Judge Saul I. Rabb, in Criminal Court Division 2, quashed indictments against them.

At a hearing last Saturday, Judge Rabb sustained a motion by Defense Attorney Henry R. Wilson Jr. to throw out the indictments. The judge ruled that the indictments did not follow the language of the law.

However, Judge Rabb allowed Prosecutor George S. Dailey's office 20 days to bring in new indictments. Attorney Wilson had asked that the cases be tossed out altogether.

The defense contended that there is actually no Indiana statute covering the alleged infraction with which the four are charged—false acknowledgment of signatures on an election petition. It was for this reason, the defense argued, that the prosecution had been obliged to twist the language of a statute relating to mortgages in drawing up the indictments.

Dixiecrats Not Indicted
As far as can be learned, no similar indictments have ever been brought in the history of Indiana. Even the Dixiecrats, who in 1948 handed in long lists of names said to have been copied from city directories by a few persons, were not indicted.

Thus it is contended that Prosecutor Dailey, who was defeated for reelection Nov. 7, will have to "scrape the barrel" in order to bring in new indictments.

Persons sympathizing with the indicted four point out that the prosecutor recently dropped charges against alleged lottery operators who had been indicted with considerable fanfare.

Ransom is state president of the NAACP, assistant general manager of the Mmc. C. J. Walker Manufacturing Co., and a widely known attorney in the civil rights field. The other defendants are Maurice Horwitz, state director of the Progressive Party; Oscar E. Banks and Arnold Grubin, rank-and-file workers in the party.

The four served as notaries during a collection of signatures to place Progressive candidates on the ballot in this fall's election.

Recorder Cheer Fund Aids Plan Big Drive

One of the best features of Christmas is the priceless opportunity it affords for a genuine display of Christian fellowship and brotherly love.

As the Yuletide season approaches this year, the 21st annual Christmas Cheer Fund sponsored by The Indianapolis Recorder Charities, Inc., gets under way with prospects for another banner year for the city's Good Fellows.

In inaugurating the money-raising drive, Dr. Guy L. Grant, prominent dentist and president of The Recorder Charities, urges all Good Fellows to make a greater effort this year in order to meet the greater need in the community at this time.

"We are justly proud of the record the good people of this city have set during the past 21 years of The Recorder activities directed toward helping the unfortunate and needy families at Christmas time.

"Many of us are in better circumstances this year than last. On the other hand, there are many who are not so well off. In fact, they will need the helping hand of good will if they are to enjoy a Merry Christmas.

"We ennoble ourselves when we give freely in the true spirit of Christmas to make others happy."

The fund drive this year will be centered in various money-raising activities as customary.

Johnny Walker Heads List
Public acknowledgment of persons who contribute directly to the Christmas Cheer Fund will be made in the columns of this newspaper as usual. Once again the name of Johnny Walker of California street will head the list as the first contributor to the current fund drive. For a number of years, Mr. Walker assures himself of the scintillating honor by making his contribution immediately after the first of the year.

Another novel feature this year will be the staging of a number of house parties and suppers by enterprising and benevolent citizens. Persons who would like to help through this means are directed to contact Mrs. Corean Hawkins, Cheer Fund drive secretary, at The Recorder office, 518 Indiana avenue, Lincoln 1545, between the hours of 8 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Big Show Scheduled

Plans are in the making for another hilarious Midnite Ramble at one of the local theaters. Many people still remember the turbulent fun festival staged by local talent gratuitously at the Avenue theater last year through the generosity of management of the Walker theater chain.

Once again coin cans will be placed in stores and other public places for Cheer Fund contributions.

High on the list of those who will receive help will be the families of men now serving with the Armed Forces in Korea and elsewhere.

Despite the dark shadows of war that fall menacingly across the pathway of peace and progress, officials of The Recorder Charities are confident that this will be a very Merry Christmas for all—thanks to the abiding goodness of heart that distinguishes the human race.

ATTENTION READERS:

If you have a son or relative whom you know to be serving with the Armed Forces in Korea . . . please notify our office. Call The News Department, LI. 1545.

Local Church

witnessed few funerals that attracted as large an assemblage, as many floral contributions and as many telegrams and expressions of condolence, he said, "Christ Temple will truly miss her."

Nationally Prominent

"Mother" Harris led a full religious life in her church and gained recognition in the Apostolic Church by her outstanding work.

In Christ Temple, Mrs. Harris was a teacher in the adult department of the Sunday School, leader of the Monday night young people's group, was a member of the Dorcas Workers, and served in religious activity in general.

Her widespread popularity was borne out by the large assemblage of mourners present and the prominence of ministers who came to speak.

Rev. Mae Lafton, New York, representing the Apostolic Women of the country, called "Mother" Harris a "faithful laborer." She said the "lovable and sweet" woman, who could comfort your heart and lend a word of encouragement no matter what the trouble "was ready to go." "She's going to be missed," the Eastern minister said, "not only in Christ Temple, but all over Pentecost."

Rev. Noble race, pastor of the First Pentecostal Church at Hartford City and representing the Apostolic Bible Students Association of Indiana, called her a "great soldier for Jesus Christ."

He said the deceased "loved righteousness and holiness and hated evil," and added, "She is just coming into her inheritance—the thing she lived for, and stood for."

Rev. Herbert C. Moore, pastor of Morgan Park Pentecostal Assembly in Chicago, representing the District Council, described her as a "peacemaker." He said she "was a kind, loved missionary," and called her "the tree of righteousness."

Elder J. S. Holly, Apostolic Faith Assembly, Chicago, representing the District Elders, simply said she was "a real lady." He said he knew her 27 years and she conducted herself in and out of the pulpit like a lady. He added that there is no kingdom as beautiful as that of a lady.

Great Woman: Bishop Sanders, representing the Board of Bishops, told the group: "You have lost one that will never be replaced. We have lost a real example, or pattern of womanhood from our ranks. She was indeed a great woman."

Mrs. Ada Airhart, member of Christ Temple and a friend of "Mother" Harris, acknowledged the cards and telegrams for the bereaved family.

Miss Helen Reeder read the obituary and Bennie Mahone sang a solo.

The Patton Funeral Home was in charge.

Mrs. Harris was born April 18, 1875, in Pittsylvania County, Va. She came to Indianapolis to live in 1914.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Marian Colbert, Indianapolis; two sisters, Mrs. Ida Oliver, Philadelphia, Pa., and Mrs. Elnora Walters, Danville, Va., and a grandson, Thomas Farmer, Indianapolis.

Just For Women

By ELIZABETH RHEA

Ever since the Pilgrim fathers celebrated the first Thanksgiving with roast turkey and trimmings for three days, the American people have followed the pattern and sat down to a dinner of as many good things as possible.

The good old turkey has become the symbol of good things to eat on Thanksgiving. The symbol of plenty has caused many mothers trouble as well as a grateful heart, because, although she was glad to have it, she was also having a very hard time trying to cook it.

However, this year things have changed, and the king of the traditional Thanksgiving platter now cuts a new figure because he now has a new dress or two. Now large smoked turkeys can be purchased by mail or at your favorite delicacy shop and are used at holiday supper parties but not for the dinner. They can be purchased whole, halved or sliced, a choice of white meat or dark meat.

Before long, we might be eating fried turkey as much as we now eat fried chicken, because there is an increased buying of turkey cut-ups, some markets offer the halves, quarters and pieces already cut. And of course, there is the canned turkey for gifts or for our own table.

An extra special delicacy is the turkey legs. They can be bought in two forms. One has the meat pre-cooked, usually weighs from one to six pounds and has a bag of concentrated gravy along with it. It comes in white or dark meat for families who like different kinds of meat. Occasionally it can be purchased with a mixture of dark and light meat.

The other leg is frozen, made of uncooked turkey meat, both of dark and light and weighs about three or four pounds. The meat is boned, wrapped in turkey skin, pressed into a log form, wrapped in heavy aluminum foil, then quick frozen. These legs are perfect to bake, then slice and serve at buffet, hot or cold. Nice, too, for turkey sandwiches.

Today's turkey is a long way away from the birds that John Alden and Miles Standish stalked with blunderbuss and bullet and sometimes, arrow.

From now on, all of us will be in a festive mood because Thanksgiving is the beginning of the festivities for the year. This year as we sit down to the well-laden table let us not forget that while we have a great deal to be thankful for, we also have a great deal to pray for the way of securing peace for the world.

Remember that there are many people who will eat their meal by the side of a road in a mess kit, or many will be eating army ration while using a gun for protection. All prayers will not be given from a church pew or from a beautiful table.

So let us not forget to ask for peace for all the world, and to thank God that it is not any worse.

GAILLARD UNIT HAS PROGRAM

Mrs. Howard Enix, child welfare chairman for Gaillard Unit 107, American Legion auxiliary, was responsible for a highly commended program at Pleasant boys school last Sunday morning.

Frank Holland, accomplished dramatist, magician, and hypnotist, and Harry R. Campbell, popular local musician, were participants.

School 42 Children Show Professionalism In Playlet

An unusual degree of "professionalism" was shown by pupils of School No. 42 last Thursday afternoon when they presented a musical playlet "Pandora's Box" in the auditorium of George Washington high school before a packed, mixed audience.

That the audience was appreciative was proven by the outbursts of enthusiastic applause which followed nearly every "skit."

The familiar story of Pandora, who released untold trouble through opening a box which it had been forbidden for her to open, was used as a clever vehicle for presenting various classes of the school in dance numbers. It was a pleasant departure from the usual dry parading of classes.

Everything — music, dancing, lines, lighting, and action — were co-ordinated to make one effective whole. Unusually clever and startling, in this writer's opinion was the first tableau "Imps," the first of the troubles to come out of Pandora's box.

As Pandora opened the box the lights suddenly went out, flashes of lightning, roars of thunder, and unbelievable pandemonium broke loose as the Imps came dancing out of the box. They appeared disconcertingly realistic on the semi-dark stage, lighted so that shadows of the appendages, horned creatures and their pitchforks loomed grotesquely against the background.

Bats and witches took over the stage for the next two tableaux, then the mood began shifting so that the whole thing ended up happily, with "Beauty" reigning supreme in a pantomime reminiscent of the classical nineteenth century ballet, complete with pas de deux, pas trois, and corps de ballet.

The pupils, ranging from beginners to 5-A's, evidenced an enviable unconsciousness of the audience which many an adult group can't rival.

Background music and rhythm was supplied by Mrs. Dorothy Davaul, pianist; Paul Parker, drummer; and Mrs. Evelyn Hawkins, director of the junior high school chorus. (R.C.H.)

Chatting with the FAC

By ELSA JACKSON

The most impressive cornerstone laying ceremony ever to be held in our city was witnessed by many persons last Sunday afternoon. According to Lt. Governor John Watkins, the ceremony was the most complete he had seen in many, many years.

Local members of the Masonic order, conducted by Atty. Will H. Porter, district deputy grand master of the Free and Accepted Masons, officiated. In addition to Lt. Gov. Watkins, principal speaker, talks were heard from Atty. Henry J. Richardson, who introduced the speaker, Dr. Russell A. Lane, Atty. Cary D. Jacobs, and Atty. Frank R. Beckwith, master of ceremonies.

Speakers pointed to the organization as one making history and complimented the FAC president, Starling W. James, very highly. The speakers were enjoyed equally as much as the speakers.

Many new pledges were taken on Sunday, and former pledges were paid by Dr. Lane, Mesdames Margaret Woodson, Ann Kennerly, and Esther Powers who had pledged $10 or more, and Messrs. James Richardson and Denver Hinton. Many others also paid on their pledges.

The building committee is constantly being surprised and is most grateful for the cooperation and support being received from FAC members and business and professional people.

In these troubled, unsettled times the FAC is truly launching a new era.

Little Patricia Hill was first prize winner in the trustee board's baby contest, which followed the ceremony. Rhetta Treammel, Jacksonville, La., Lawrence Stiggers, and Michael Hubbard, in that order.

The trustee board has ordered 100 new chairs for the auditorium.

Mrs. Hassie Pearson represented the FAC at the Tuberculosis Association's Christmas seal kick-off dinner in the Travertine room of the Lincoln hotel last Friday. Your reporter was also present, representing the Jackson Park civic club.

Members of the health and welfare committee are completing plans for the Alpha Home tea, to be held on Sunday, Dec. 17. The committee will also have a supper on Saturday night, Dec. 2.

Plans are being completed for the trip to Haiti next year, and the required number of persons have reserved passage. A group of 25 women are participating in a contest which will pay off with prizes for one of them for the trip.

V. F. W. POST HAS MEETING

At the regular meeting of the Phillips-Highbaugh Post No. 9643, veterans of Foreign Wars, the members made a point of asking all Indiana veterans to remember that December 31 is deadline for signing blanks for the Indiana state bonus.

The post has blanks available for veterans who can pick them up at the post home on Thursday evening. Persons will be on hand to help the veterans in filling the blanks out.

With Thanksgiving "around the corner" at the meeting time, the chaplain, Clem Johnson, asked all parents, sisters, brothers, and relatives with sick ones in the veterans' hospital to stop by and wish them "Happy Thanksgiving."

The post is currently sponsoring a membership drive, and points out that any veteran who saw service outside the United States is eligible for membership. The Veterans of Foreign Wars is a non-segregated organization.

Persons wishing to become members should contact the chaplain, Comrade Clem Johnson, at LI 8016 or the commander, Napoleon Rich, LI 0168.

Voice of the Eastside

By MARY P. MCGUIRE

Marriage is the mother of the world, and preserves kingdoms and fills cities and churches and heaven itself. Marriage may have in it less beauty than the single life, but it has more safety, "it hath no more ease, but less danger."

This month has marked three or more weddings of well-known pals.

Miss Mildred Watson, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Ira King, 2154 Carrollton avenue, was married on November 13 to John Wimsa. Rev. C. H. Bell, pastor of Mt. Paran Baptist Church, read the ceremony. The couple are honeymooning in Owensboro, Ky. with Mr. Wimsa's parents.

Other little pals of mine wearing "happily married" signs this month are the former Miss Norma Jean Dyer and John Oliver Gough Jr., now living in Detroit. Last Sunday during the heavy rain, the former Miss Betty Taylor was enjoying a lovely reception as bride of Clifford B. Ransom at 2943 Highland place.

"Having plenty of cold, not coal" kept me from attending these receptions, which I regret.

The first annual tea of the T. G. club, held at 1612 Vandee street, also had a rainy day. Several choruses, trios, readers, and soloists were booked for the affair. Mesdames Beulah Brown and Ruth Hogan are presidents.

Enough space cannot be given to express my gratitude to those who served as ushers for the Gladys Keys recital last Thursday night in the auditorium of Crispus Attucks high school.

Those who came in beautiful gowns and dinner suits were Verdel M. Taylor, Coda H. Sweeney, Julia M. Reed, Barbara Harris, Mattie Fanning, Seta Stewart, Kathryn Beeler, Ernestine Grundy, Mary A. Elder, Betty Jean Caldwell, Betty Ruth Neene, Yvonne Ross, Willye Mae Owens, Mary Robinson, Joly Talley, Walter Scott, Arnold Gee, and John Scott.

Mrs. Pearl Lewis, president of the Musical Builders club, sponsor of the recital, joins me with thanks for all.

Should any names be omitted, please call the ole columnist, because she is in the dumps from trying to keep up with the ushers. Just can't reduce clothes any more!

While at Attucks, I was informed by Mr. Cox, who has charge of the electrical class, that there are 745 persons enrolled in the night classes, and that most of his students are eastsiders. Among them are William King, Abe Griffin, Charles W. Mason, and James Sherron.

These classes help to brush up one's knowledge as well as to give an opportunity to those who didn't have a chance before.

Nesw comes to my desk that Verne Overton, 2912 Indianapolis avenue, will entertain his son, Thomas Ewart, now attending Cincinnati university, as guest this week. Mr. Overton was recipient of a scholarship to the University of Cincinnati, and is playing on the basketball team. Well known on the eastside, he is an active member of New Bethel Baptist Church and sings in the junior choir.

Attending the dinner will be Mrs. Florence Martin, Miss Charlotte Smith, and James Watson.

KILLS POLICEMAN TRYING TO KEEP HIS SON OUT OF JAIL

DETROIT (ANP)—An enraged father killed one policeman and injured another in a gun battle here Sunday in an effort to keep his son from going to jail. The battle involved 200 police and attracted a crowd of 2,000 persons. Charles Marshall Gordy Sr. was captured in front of his home after being routed by tear gas and a barrage of bullets. According to police, he admitted shooting the two police officers after they had subdued and handcuffed his son, Charles Jr., 31. 2,000 Persons on Scene The battle scene, which brought the 2,000 onlookers, is located very close to the race riot grounds of 1944. Four hours after the shooting crowds were still pacing the streets for a block around the area. Two police riot squads kept in the district to preserve order. Late Sunday evening law officials declared the danger was over.

Police said the elder Gordy killed Patrolman Adreas Mellert Jr., 31, in a series of rifle shots fired from the window of the duplex house where he lived. The officer's partner, Patrolman David Morgan, 23, was wounded in the head, right hand, and shoulder. The son, who is said to have a record of eight arrests and two convictions for robbery, had been arrested earlier in the day on a charge of reckless driving but was released. Police later learned he was wanted for questioning in a holdup and the two patrol officers were sent to rearrest him.

Upon entering the home where the father and son lived with their wives, the officers met with such strong resistance against the younger man's arrest, they called their station for more help. However, before aid arrived, they were able to subdue and handcuff the son. As he was being led down the walk to the car, the father fired a series of shots from a window with a .30-caliber rifle. Both officers went down.

200 Police Answer Alarm Later in talking to police, the elder Gordy stated: I don't know how many times I shot. I kept firing until I was out of breath. All I could think of was that

Charles was going to jail. When police, summoned by the two patrolmen, arrived and found the two officers injured, they turned in an emergency call for more men. It was answered by 200 officers including two commando squads equipped with machine guns, steel helmets and tear gas. The commandos were organized six years ago after the race riot in which more than 30 persons were killed.

After police surrounded the duplex and fired tear gas and bullets in, the two families living on the second floor of the house came out amid a shower of glass. The elder Gordy followed with his hands up.

N. Y. Musician's Strange Death Under Probe

NEW YORK (ANP)—Circumstances surrounding the mysterious death of Joseph (Joe) Keyes, acknowledged as one of the greatest trumpet players of all times, were being investigated here this week, as preparations were made to bury the deceased's unclaimed body in Potter's Field.

Keyes was reported missing from his home on Nov. 2. Four days later, his body was discovered floating in the Harlem river. When fished out, he was classified as "unidentified" and carried to the Bronx county morgue at Fordham hospital.

Last Tuesday, the body was officially identified as that of Keyes. Earlier, Arthur Jackson, a nephew had identified the body and reported that Keyes who had lived with Arthur and a niece, Kathleen Jackson, had been missing since Nov. 2. However, the identification was not official, since the medical examiner was not present. Jackson was supposed to return later to officially identify the body, but he never did.

Later police found a Robert Thompson who gave official identification to the partially decomposed body of Keyes. According to musicians at the Beadlock bar and the Rhythm club, Keyes was an "ace musician" and was "rated with the all-time greats." He is said to have played with many of the top Negro bands, including Duke Ellington, Count Basie, Cab Calloway, Hot Lips Page, Cootie Williams, Fletcher Henderson and Fats Waller.

CORRECTION! Mrs. Irene Baker, age 50, 949 Edgemont street, died in the General Hospital Nov. 3 and not in the Central hospital as was noted in error in the order, issue of Saturday, Nov. 13. The burial was in New Crown cemetery.

CIO Holds Five Day Meeting in City of Chicago

By GEORGE F. McCRAE

CHICAGO (ANP)—The 12th annual convention of the CIO opened in Chicago Monday at the Palmer House. Over 500 Negro and white delegates registered from the 31 unions which remain in the CIO after the ousting of 13 Communist units earlier in the year.

Officials report that losses in membership, as a result of the ousting of Red-dominated unions have been more than augmented by new membership gains.

Judging from the annual report of President Philip Murray and the atmosphere prevailing among the delegates, the CIO will continue to support the foreign and domestic program of the Truman administration, including a renewed demand for civil rights legislation.

The delegates are certain to demand fuller mobilization of manpower and material resources to guarantee production of essential goods, while expanding national power to meet the threat of Communism abroad.

THANKSGIVING

Lest we forget the true significance of this day of Thanksgiving, we pause to join the mighty throng in uttering prayer of praise and gratitude to the Creator of all good.

Truly the hardship experienced by those undaunted Pilgrims, the pioneers of our American civilization, were but a foreshadow of the present era of fear and uncertainty that pervades our world of today. In the midst of plenty we are in the midst of war.

We wish to extend to our patrons, friends and to Indianapolis at large our sincere wishes for the Season's most choice blessing and may a spirit of gratitude and thanks be kindled anew in the hearts of all.

Lincoln U., Pa. Plans Program For 100th Year

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY, Pa. (ANP)—In the year 1954, Lincoln university will celebrate its 100th year of service as an institution of higher learning for Negroes. And beginning this year, a fund-raising drive will be carried on, with a goal of $2,000,000 to be reached by commencement in 1954.

The five-year fund-raising campaign is spearheaded by the National Alumni Association, with the approval of the board of trustees in tribute to the school's founders. Working with the association are the large student body and well-wishers of Lincoln.

Located in lower Oxford township, Chester county, Pennsylvania, the institution was founded in 1854 by the late Rev. Samuel Dickey. At its beginning, it was known as Ashmun institute, with the Rev. Dickey as its first president.

Ten years later, at the death of President Abraham Lincoln, Ashmun was rededicated as Lincoln university. Five presidents have reigned as head of Lincoln in addition to the Rev. Dickey. Four were Drs. I. N. Randall; his nephew, John B. Randall; William H. Johnson and Walter L. Wright.

The fifth and present head of the school is Dr. Horace Mann Bond, an alumnus of Lincoln.

Dr. Bond said the club had observed with great interest "the success of your efforts in behalf of complete integration of students of our group at Indiana University."

Senate Ave. YMCA Cites Bloomington Pastor

By CHARLES S. PRESTON

Dr. Merrill B. McFall, pastor of First Methodist Church at Bloomington, received the annual award of the Emblem Club at the Senate Avenue YMCA on Sunday and delivered an inspiring address to the second of this year's Monster Meeting series.

Frederick A. Parker, vice-president of the YMCA's Emblem Club presented the award to Dr. McFall in recognition of his "distinguished service in furthering interracial goodwill in the Hoosier state."

National NAACP Aides To Speak at Evansville

N. C. U. Denies Law School Entry to Negro

EVANSVILLE—Rev. Walter P. Offutt Jr., church secretary for the national NAACP, and Gloster B. Current, national director of branches, will be the headline speakers for the state convention of the NAACP to be held here Dec. 1-3.

Mayor E. F. Diekmann will welcome delegates at the opening session at Carver Community Center on Friday, Dec. 1, at 8 p.m.

Indications point to a larger and more enthusiastic gathering than ever at this fourth annual state conference of the organization.

For the first time, delegates have been allotted to the branches according to their respective memberships, thus assuring a truly representative turnout.

Willard B. Ransom, Indianapolis attorney and business man who has headed the Hoosier NAACP since it was organized, will preside and is expected to be re-nominated for president. It is believed that he will meet opposition, as occurred last year at Gary.

Election Is Question Whether the opposition has gathered sufficient strength during the past year to defeat the militant and nationally known Ransom is a question mark. Frederick D. Coker of South Bend made the race last year, but his bid was turned back.

Regardless of inner maneuverings for office, the Indiana NAACPers will stand united on a program of wiping out all vestiges of second-class citizenship in this state.

Enactment of a state Fair Employment Practices Law with enforcement powers, in place of the present "toothless" state FEPC, is expected to stand at the top of the list of issues.

Other state-wide demands include strict and fair enforcement of the historic Anti-Segregated School Law, which the Association played the major part in establishing; employment and assignment of teachers without segregation, as provided by this law; enforcement of the Indiana Civil Rights Law throughout Hoosierdom, and the strengthening of this law by the next state legislature.

Besides Rev. Offutt and Mr. Current, prominent speakers addressing the convocation will include Dr. Robert Anglin of Arkansas State College and Everett Walker of the guidance department of Evansville College.

Mass Meeting Dec. 3 A mass meeting will be held Sunday afternoon, Dec. 3, at 3 o'clock at Liberty Baptist Church.

William Emage is president of the host branch. Miss Willie Effie Thomas is chairman of the publicity and program committee, which has been leaving no stone unturned in planning for the convention.

Other members of the committee are Mrs. William Emage, L. George Chester, Mrs. Lillard Boatright, Maurice Anderson, Carl G. Offutt, Mrs. Fannie Crawley, Mrs. Ethel Anderson, Mrs. Bertha Tate, Mrs. Ada Chester and Rev. C. H. Powell.

Lester P. Bailey, assistant field secretary of the national NAACP, has been in the city working with the local branch on problems of discrimination, and helping with preparations for the state conference.

calities where there are no youth councils, are urged to bring young people to the convention as observers, with the hope of stimulating youth work throughout the state. The registration fee is $5 for youth councils, and $1 for youth delegates.

After the business session on Saturday evening the local youth will be hosts to visiting delegates at a party to be held either at the Phyllis Wheatley Club House, 662 S. Governor st., or the American Legion Home, 1127 Chestnut st.

At 8:45 a.m. Sunday Miss Arnett, who is announcer for the local youth council's weekly broadcast, will interview one of the visiting NAACP officials over Radio Station WJPS.

STUDENTS IN U. S. SAY AFRICA IS IMMUNE TO COMMUNISM

CHICAGO (ANP)—According to Jacob Boehway and Emmanuel Addy, African students attending Lewis College at Lockport, "Africa is immune to Communism and Communists can never hope to make inroads."

Both men are natives of Accra, the seacoast capital of the British West African Gold Coast colony. They flew here last September to enter Lewis under the sponsorship of Bishop Sheil, the school's founder, after taking competitive examinations for the scholarships at Accra. The CYO paid their transportation, tuition, and living expenses.

Addy believes, "Communism is not compatible with our way of life. Africans, whether Christian or pagan, deeply believe in some form of deity and never could accept any form of Communism."

No mention was made of the violent activities of Kwame Nkrumah, fellow countryman and Lincoln University (Pa.) graduate, who leads the extreme and off-labeled "radical" group known as the Convention People's Party.

Nkrumah, who was set down as secretary of the United Gold Coast Convention Party, a national movement to achieve self-government for the Gold Coast in the shortest possible time, formed his own group in June, 1949.

After engineering a series of strikes and boycotts, he was arrested by the British Colonial Government on charges of civil disobedience. It is said that when searched, a Communist Party membership card was found in his possession.

Addy is taking a four-year degree course in electrical engineering, and plans to enter the engineering field when he returns to Accra. He served in India during World War II as a radio operator with an African division in the British army.

Boehway, age 39, the father of five children, is taking a two-year course in electronics and may take an additional two years of advanced work. He plans to teach the subject in the new technical school being constructed by missionaries in the Gold Coast. He has been a teacher since 1935.

New Addition Dedicated at School No. 26

The new $275,000 addition to School No. 26, including the Dunbar Branch Library, was formally dedicated last week.

Dr. Herman L. Shibley, new superintendent of Indianapolis schools, accepted the new wing from school commissioner Emil W. Schaadt and then presented it to Emory A. James, principal of the school.

"This school will reflect this community," Dr. Shibley told some 250 parents and students, "and it will be just as good as you want it to be."

Dr. Shibley went on to say that the building of the new facilities at "26" is only one of many steps needed to be taken to provide adequate facilities for Indianapolis.

In accepting the new addition, Mr. James said, "The presentation has presented a challenge that the teachers have already accepted and will continue to carry out."

Mr. James also directed specific comments to parents who apparently had been keeping children out of school frequently to run errands. "Can't Johnny pass those bills after three o'clock?" he asked.

In addition, the outspoken principal rebuffed the neighborhood for not showing more interest in the dedication of the new structure. "We have 1,663 children enrolled," Mr. James pointed out, and added that many more people should have attended.

G. L. Hayes, retired principal of School 26, provided closing remarks. He simply thanked the School Board for its "kindness."

Rev. A. J. Brown, pastor of the Greater St. John Baptist Church, offered the invocation at the outset of the program. Music was furnished by the school's ninth grade choir and the Witherspoon Quartet.

The new addition of 12 classrooms, several special rooms and the library, was started in April, 1949, and completed April, 1950.

NUMBERS OPERATOR PLEADS GUILTY TO 200 G's TAX DODGE

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (ANP)—Franklin Callaway, numbers operator formerly of McDowell county now living in Elmhurst, N. Y., pleaded guilty last Wednesday to evasion of federal taxes on income to the tune of $284,179. The taxes were due on income he received from the numbers game, during the years 1945-47.

He was ordered to appear at Bluefield, W. Va., on Jan. 16 for sentencing.

According to Special agent Alan McBride of the U. S. treasury department, Callaway had been engaged in gambling in the numbers business, though it is operated by another man, McBride estimated that Callaway's gross take per day was between $2,600 to $3,000.

St. Louis Pastor, City Alderman, Dies in Car Crash

ST. LOUIS (ANP) — The Rev. Jasper C. Caston, 51, the first Negro to become an alderman in St. Louis, died last week as the result of a fatal automobile crash on Highway 6 about 15 miles from Hannibal, Mo.

Two passengers, riding with the alderman, Len Love, 54, and Mrs. Elizabeth Howard, 40, were injured, and taken to St. Elizabeth's hospital in Hannibal.

According to police, Rev. Caston who was driving, apparently lost control of his auto when one of the wheels got off the pavement, and he tried to pull it back to the road. Officers said the car careered wildly and crashed into a parked bus. None of the passengers on the bus were injured.

Love, operator of the Love undertaking business, in St. Louis, and Mrs. Howard, suffered cuts and bruises.

Rev. Caston, pastor of Memorial Baptist church, was first elected a city alderman in 1943, running on the Republican ticket. He was re-elected in 1947. His vacancy will not be filled until the 1951 elections.

Mr. James also directed specific comments to parents who apparently had been keeping children out of school frequently to run errands. "Can't Johnny pass those bills after three o'clock?" he asked.

In addition, the outspoken principal rebuffed the neighborhood for not showing more interest in the dedication of the new structure. "We have 1,663 children enrolled," Mr. James pointed out, and added that many more people should have attended.

WILLIAM AND MARY LAW SCHOOL MAY ADMIT NEGRO STUDENTS

NAACP Leader Speaks for Meet At New Albany

NEW ALBANY — Willard B. Ransom of Indianapolis, NAACP state president, was principal speaker at a triumphant meeting of the local branch held in Second Baptist Church here on Sunday.

The branch celebrated the successful outcome of the membership drive, in which 89 members were secured in this Ohio River community. The goal of the campaign was 75 members. Workers in the drive resolved to obtain 25 more memberships in order to top the 100 mark.

Speaking on "The NAACP and American Democracy," Mr. Ransom keyed his remarks to the 87th anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

He said the NAACP is bringing Lincoln's message of democracy and equality into real life. He urged his listeners to crusade against discrimination in public places, and against segregation of pupils or teachers, through direct action and processes of law.

Another speaker was Lyman Johnson, president of the Louisville, Ky., NAACP branch. Mr. Johnson figured prominently in the legal cases against Jim Crow at the University of Louisville and the University of Kentucky.

He was the plaintiff in the University of Louisville case.

Leslie J. White, president of the local branch and principal of Scribner high school, introduced the speakers.

Rev. J. L. King gave the invocation, and Rev. M. Boyd Patrick the benediction.

MO. HIGH COURT AGAIN RULES AGAINST JIMCROW SCHOOL

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (ANP)—The state supreme court last week upheld a ruling by a lower bench that Negroes must be admitted to "white" schools for courses not offered in Negro schools.

The ruling was handed down in the case of Wesley H. and Wilbur Brewster, brothers, who sued to force the St. Louis board of education to admit them to Hadley Technical High school for a course in arc-mechanics. The youths had stated that the course was not offered at Washington Tech for Negroes. Last November Circuit Judge Robert L. Aronson had ruled in favor of the youths.

However, in upholding the lower court, the state tribunal instructed Judge Aronson to modify his decision to conform with that of the U. S. Supreme court and to dismiss the case if he found it had become "moot" through discontinuance of the course by the board of education.

Last June, Superintendent of Instruction Philip J. Hickey announced the course had been dropped rather than admit Negroes or provide adequate facilities at Washington Tech.

PHILADELPHIA TO HONOR DR. R. J. BUNCHE PHILADELPHIA (ANP) — The city of Philadelphia will honor Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, winner of the 1950 Nobel Peace Prize, Dec. 29, with the annual Philadelphia Citizens Award.

The presentation will be made at the annual Christmas Cotillion in Convention Hall, according to Judge Herbert E. Millen, general chairman of the Philadelphia Cotillion Society.

Dr. Bunche has already accepted the invitation. Judge William H. Hastie of the Circuit Court of Appeals will present the award to Dr. Bunche.

HAIL TO OLD PURDUE!

History was made during the Purdue-Northwestern football game two weeks ago when Herman Murray, outstanding athlete from Crispus Attucks High School, ran on to the field and took his place at right tackle in the Boiler-maker line. In so doing Murray became the first Negro ever to compete in the gridiron sport for a Purdue varsity team. Let us add that the Indianapolis junior gave an excellent account of himself during the remainder of the contest.

All true sportsmen of the Hoosier state will, we are sure, applaud this development that puts Purdue in line with Indiana University and other democratic institutions. And we are informed that progress is being made in living arrangements on the West Lafayette campus, to the end that students may be housed together regardless of race or color.

It is heartening to learn that in these steps taken against age-old hatred and prejudice, it was the student body that overwhelmingly supported the forward moves. Reports are that the case of Murray had even become something of an issue between the student newspaper and Coach Stu Holcomb. The students felt that Murray was being kept out of the lineup because of his race, while Coach Holcomb assertedly "didn't want anyone telling him how to run his team." In view of Purdue's record this season, we will refrain from commenting on the latter sentiment.

Murray and Lively Bryant, another former Crispus Attucks athlete, are being aided in attending Purdue through the YMCA Scholarship Fund. Frederick A. Parker and Dr. Paul Batties, officials of the fund, report that the original moneys are exhausted and more contributions are urgently needed. Let's help this cause so some of us can cheer for Purdue at the Old Oaken Bucket!

THE WEAK LINK IN THE CHAIN OF DEMOCRACY

Speaking for the tenth anniversary dinner-meeting of the Marion Urban League recently Philip Willkie, a Republican member of the Indiana General Assembly and son of the late and illustrious Wendell L. Willkie, spoke out for the enactment of state and federal Fair Employment Practice legislation.

Regarding fair play on the workers' front, Mr. Willkie further observed that time and conditions in the world will not wait for the problems of race relations of our land to be ironed out through the course of gradualism.

He insisted that time is not on our side, in the world as a whole, and that the course of gradualism will not meet the needs. Again he cited that the non-white majority of peoples of the world know the story of discrimination in our land.

Our observation is that many prophets without honor in their own country and time are now preaching that the doctrine of gradualism in the evolution of practical democratic action is outdated. Moreover, in the small corner where we are, if we do not uphold the spirit and letter of practical democratic action, the vigor of its structure is diminished, to no end, like the chain with a weak link.

DIXIE SOLONS HAVE THE ANSWERS?

The South of Bourbon traditions or feudal agrarianism will be in the saddle as never before on the convening of the Eighty-Second Congress in January, to continue in spirit and fact the nullification of the letter and spirit of the U. S. Constitution.

More directly southern Democrats may have a stronger voice in affairs of both the U. S. Senate and U. S. House than ever before. This follows on account of seniority of Dixie solons and the paradoxical power of negative designs in many scopes of human interests.

In the Eighty-Second Congress, it appears, Dixie solons, committee chairmen, will head nine of the most important committees of the U. S. Senate, including most of the key posts. Again it appears the picture is equally as good or bad in the U. S. House, depending upon where one stands on the evolution of genuine democratic action.

A great deal might be said about the stakes of the people of our land in this "adventurous anomaly," but our observation has to do with the cause.

Looking at the record in the 1944 Presidential election, 27.9 percent of the voters in 13 southern states cast votes equally as powerful as twice that percent of the voters of the rest of the country; more correctly, the figure was 27.9 to 61.9. Again in most southern states the election is conclusively decided by the outcome of the Democratic primary.

The questions are will Dixie solons elected by a handful of votes from "rotten pocket-boroughs" pursue a practical foreign policy?

Will they respond practically to the nation's need for better housing, health and educational laws?

Will they meet with federal legislation the just demands of the nation's working people?

Will they meet with federal legislation the just demands of the small farmer and little businessmen?

Will they meet the nation's promises to veterans of World War II?

Will they, in spirit and action, serve notice on the world that President Truman's social justice program, civil rights or equal justice before the law is empty idealism?

REVIVING THE CONFEDERACY?

Seems like we've heard more talk about the Southern Confederacy lately than for a long, long while. Every time you turn around, there is the ghost of Robert E. Lee.

For instance, word has leaked out that the U. S. Army uniform soon may be changed from khaki to "Confederate gray." There may be good reasons for the change in color, but why not call it "Kaiser Wilhelm gray"? He, too, was an enemy of the United States.

Then a smart advertising promoter in Washington, D. C., is running a contest to see who can bring in the most Confederate money. This has aroused a good deal of interest, it is explained, because the nation's capital is "largely a Southern city." They're telling Buster!

But this Confederate business may not be such a joke at that, as we read that Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia is prominently mentioned for majority leader of the Senate. Senator Russell distinguished himself last week by advocating the atom-bombing of Chinese cities, "if things get serious enough." No doubt he has in mind that the millions of people destroyed would all be colored, anyway.

We have no objection when our daily contemporaries extend Hoosier hospitality to Erle Coker Jr., new national commander of the American Legion and owner of a 1,200-acre turpentine farm near Dawson, Ga. But is it really from sullyng their memory with wisecracks.

REFLECTION ON THE ELECTION

The caprices of politics were never shown to greater advantage than in the recent election. To all intents and purposes, the Grand Old Party has scored decisive victories in a way that should cause gloomy forebodings and dire misgivings for dyed-in-the-wool Democrats, such as the writer has been for 20 years. To this writer, however, the election results do not mean the beginning of the end for Trumanism and the Fair Deal. It would be exceedingly unfortunate if it did. It only means that a political stock taking is in order; that is all. Events in Korea turned the scale of political fortune.

Had not the Chinese Reds taken a part in the Korean struggle, we Democrats would have won going away, even in this off-year political campaign.

When the writer was a lad on plantation in South Carolina, it was a well-defined custom in those days to prop up the dying with pillows as this would prolong the departure of the loved one for hours, even days and weeks. When all hope was lost some kindly person always advised to "pull the pillow out" and the loved one would pass out and on into the Great Beyond. Pulling the pillow out was a serious, solemn task for the rustics of that day; but amid much sorrow and grief it had to be done sooner or later. There are those who are willing after this week's election to say "pull the pillows" from the head of the dying Democratic party. This is far from the notion of the writer. When it comes to playing politics, there is not a more consummate master today than Harry Truman. The Republicans will sweat, many tears of agony ere little Harry is relegated to the limbo of fading politicians. Truman still has the punch; and what is more, he is trying against fearful odds to further liberty. All around us we see signs that little by little the Negro is on his way up, thanks to Trumanism!

By ANP
REFLECTION ON THE ELECTION

About the most heartening aspect of the national election was the defeat of Talmadgism in Georgia. When the Unit System, life-blood of Talmadgism and Talmadgism, was struck a deadly blow by better Georgians, we are treated to one of the most hopeful political signs of the times. Talmadge the elder met his Waterloo at the hands of young Ellis Arnall, the benefactor of his state and nation.

Now there are indications that Talmadge the younger is on his way out. With an end to the unit system, Georgia's day of political redemption is apparently dawning, and for this may God be praised. The better elements in Georgia have taken an awful beating since the rise of Talmadges; but they are waging a winning fight. It now is only a matter of time.

When the Talmadges and Talmadgism move out of Georgia's white house, it will be good-bye forever. The day is too bright, and intelligence is too wide-spread for Talmadgism to rule Georgia much longer.

This writer has said before that the heroic struggle better Georgians are making is the most heartening thing in the political life of the South and nation. Never have the few fought against the many so successfully as in Georgia. Georgia is the crucible in which the spirit of the South is being refined. If good government can gain in Georgia it can gain anywhere.

Even Georgia is not as bad as Talmadgism make it appear. In spite of the Ku Klux Klan, Negroes are still achieving and pursuing. In Georgia, as elsewhere in the South, Negroes are knocking at the door of full-fledged citizenship. They are getting a hearing even in Talmadge land.

The brave fight better Georgians are making will help the cause of civic righteousness everywhere. The nation looks on in wonder, and amazement at the resurgence of political integrity way down in Georgia. At its heart Georgia is not as bad as it is at times painted because of its periodic political retrogression under the reign of the Talmadges. The Democratic party is not through. Georgia fights bravely. True Trumanites, let's go!

inclusive, you earn $50 or more in cash wages from one household, and

If, during that same period, you work either full or part time on 24 or more days for that household—

Then you come under the social security program for that period. Simple, isn't it NOT?

Congress Passed Law Anyway, it's all in the pamphlets which the government provides. If there are any errors in the set-up, they should be blamed on Congress, which passed the new law at the last session.

Actually, it was a step toward simple justice that Congress took—and one that was long overdue. Millions of domestic workers will now be covered by the law and obtain the benefits along with their fellow Americans in other occupations.

Included under "household workers" are maids, laundresses, housekeepers, cooks, nursemaids, gardeners, furnace men, handymen, valets, footmen, groomers, chauffeurs (of privately owned cars), practical nurses, etc.

People who perform household work on farms are covered by a different provision of the new law.

REPUBLICAN LOOKS AT THE FUTURE

Senator Robert Taft is feeling very chipper these days what with his impressive victory over the opposition in the recent elections in Ohio and the many predictions that he will be the Republican standard bearer of 1952 and that he will call the tunes for the legislation during the Eighty-Second Congress.

In his jubilation over his decisive victory the Senator from Ohio the other day in Washington called in the press boys and gave them the lowdown on the whys and the wherefores of his election in particular and of the Republican victories in general.

Mr. Taft ascribed his victory to the determination of the voters not to be dominated by the CIO Political Action Committee, their affection for the Taft-Hartley anti-labor act and their opposition to the things for which the CIO stands and for which Mr. Truman has fought as domestic policies during his administration.

It seems to this columnist that Mr. Taft is either too good a politician to believe what he says or he is more naive than most Americans have given him credit for being.

I personally believe that Mr. Taft has one of the best Nineteenth Century minds still around and that when he made this statement, he deliberately was putting out feelers for the reactionary character of the legislation that he is going to back in the next session of the Congress.

Big Reason for Victory Mr. Taft knows that one of the reasons why he won in Ohio was the fact that the top Democrats in Ohio sided him rather than his Democratic opponent and that practically all of the state's press was lined up solidly for him. And that these factors and the fact that his opponent was not generally well-known coupled to the general desperation of the people in the face of international and domestic crises served to rest him in.

He also was aware that the majority of the voters do not know the provisions of the Taft-Hartley Law since they have never been printed completely in any widely read newspaper or magazine and that even if they did read it, the language is such that they could not understand it. He knew that few of those who voted for him even thought of the labor bill.

Mr. Taft was also merely playing dumb when he stated that the voters wanted none of the legislative program of the CIO, which the President has been trying to foist on the people.

He does not spell this out. But that includes the civil rights program, public low-rent housing, Federal aid to education, a more equitable labor law and a national health program.

A Twist of "Mandate" If Mr. Taft intends to vote in accordance with what he calls the public's mandate on these matters he will necessarily vote against all civil rights legislation such as a Fair Employment Practices Law and Anti-Lynch and Anti-Poll tax law. And his Negro constituents will surely LOVE him for that!

And it means that Mr. Taft, who has been accused by some of his more conservative teammates of being radical because he has supported low rent housing, if he is consistent in obeying this "mandate" will have to oppose government housing for the underprivileged.

And Mr. Taft is not stupid enough to suppose that the people have rejected the idea of enough good education to go around and that they are content to sit idly by while three hundred twenty-five thousand of their number die needlessly every year because of the lack of adequate medical care.

Perhaps Mr. Taft is merely testing the public temper and unless he hears a sizeable protest will assume that it is safe or him as the heir apparent to the Republican presidential nomination in 1952 to vote along the lines indicated.

If that is his line he is failing to count the fact that the two great resources of the human heart are fear and hope and that while the former has elected him the latter may keep him out of the White House.

EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES (I)

At the suggestion and under the direction of Editor Marcus C. Stewart of the INDIANAPOLIS RECORDER, I am seeking information on employment opportunities of Indianapolis Negroes. To date I have obtained facts directly from presidents, personnel managers, and public relations directors of twenty important companies. I had dealt with some of them years ago in connection with the Crispus Attucks High School Employment Bureau.

Most of the persons approached were cordial and sympathetic. A few, however, were subtly hostile and impatient. Asked if any colored employees held jobs somewhat out of the ordinary, one man replied: "Nobody holds an unusual job here. We are proud of our colored employees."

An officer of another concern with which Negroes spend millions of dollars seemed to be taken wholly un-awares when asked if he ever had considered offering colored persons better paying work than menial jobs. De-

MR. JOHNSON clarifying that Negroes who spent money with his company got full value for it, he proclaimed his friendly feeling for the Negro because he used Negro domestics. Adding that no Negro ever had applied to him for a job other than menial, he indicated he wished the conference closed.

One great corporation whose Negro patronage runs into many millions of dollars for some months has been considering better job opportunities to Negroes. Feeling that Negroes are entitled to better employment than has been available to them, the company has concluded that it is better to make changes voluntarily than to be forced to do so by law. It maintains, nevertheless, that opposition of white workers hinders the management in taking such action as it wants to take in regard to upgrading Negroes. At present it is dickering with the union in the hope of eliminating its opposition to colored workers holding the better jobs.

Two large organizations are friendly and interested. Replying to a query relating to its motive for doing so well by Negroes, one public relations director said: "We have no special motive. It is our thought that everyone has a right to work at whatever he likes and can do best. We have found that by simply treating colored people like people they respond like people."

"I do not blame the white people for their attitude toward the Negro," said another broadminded public relations man. Continuing, the "eastern-born official" added: "I'll tell you why. They have been taught ill-will and prejudice." He intimated that it will be necessary to teach them to have a friendly attitude to replace the present bitter feelings.

One very noticeable disclosure is that several great companies have discontined requiring one's racial identity on the application of a prospective employee. This means that records relating to workers are kept solely on the basis of their success or failure on the job.

It is a fact that progress—important, encouraging progress—is being made as regards job opportunities for Indianapolis Negroes. Many great captains of industry and thousands associated with them throughout the land seem to be concerned about the Negro's economic welfare. And they are doing something about it. They own and run the country. Probably they should run it.

They accept Theodore Roosevelt's rallying cry: "All men up—no men down." They also agree that the manifest destiny of this country is "to establish on earth the noblest temple ever dedicated to the worship of the Most High—the Sacred and the True. Its floor shall be a hemisphere—its roof the star-studded heavens." Millions of patriotic Americans feel that they are peculiarly favored by God's oversight and care and given the task of spreading their blessings to all mankind.

A brighter day appears to be dawning for the American Negro in several significant respects.

The happy summer days are gone,
The lonely flowers droop and die;
The morning breeze through shedding trees
Is whispering sadly a lover good bye.

Dark shadows fall across the grass
And shadows fall across my heart
For now, my love, the time has come
When you and I must part.

And tho' I wear a smiling face,
And tho' I laugh and play a part,
No sign of sadness mars this day,
The tears are in my heart.

RIGHT OR LEFT-HANDED?

It is a right-handed world, only four out of every hundred persons are left-handed. Many left-handed children have started to school this year for the first time; other students are noticing this left-handedness, and making remarks about it.

It is no more abnormal for a person to be left-handed than it is for a person to be red-headed, or to be born a twin, or to show any of the other influences of heredity.

The tragic part of left-handedness in many families is that the parents, unaware of the danger of their act, endeavor to make the left-handed child use his right hand.

The motor function of the hand is controlled from the brain. The right half of the brain controls the left side of the body, with the left side of the brain controlling the right side of the body. The left half of the brain as a rule predominates in this motor function of the body—hence, more persons are right-handed.

Attempts to alter nature's plan of motor function in a particular body frequently result in nervous disorders—even mental confusion.

Left-handedness is often associated with unusual talent and skill. Many of the world's outstanding personages have been left-handed; Leonardo da Vinci, Michelangelo and Holbein were left-handed, and they painted some of the world's most famous pictures. Left-handed baseball players put over some beautiful curves.

Therefore, if your child is left-handed do not try to change him. Left-handedness is not a handicap.

Joe Sgro Scheduled to Meet Eddie O'Neil Fri

By JIM CUMMINGS

Gentleman Joe Sgro, the friendly Southside belter who recently dropped his state welterweight title to young Andy Anderson, this Friday was scheduled to start on a "comeback" attempt in the Armory. Joe was to level his mitts on Eddie O'Neil in an eight-round main event.

O'Neil, a bold Detroit gent with a knock for upsets, came to town boasting a very impressive record. His sparkling record includes a victory over Jimmy Sherrer who split a pair of battles with the 29-year-old Naptowner.

Gene Parker, the state lightweight champ, blasted highly-touted Freddie Latson, St. Louis, around the Armory ropes all the way and emerged with a one-sided victory in their eight-round main go fracas last Friday.

The flashy, Westside youth probably would have knocked his opponent out had he not hurt his right hand in the third round. He floored his St. Louis rival twice in the second and seemed to have him on his way out in the third when he hurt his hand.

After the unlucky third, Parker used his right only in pinches, which came few and far between. For the most part he used only his left, jabbing and hooking. Even so, he won every round.

Another thing that worked against the Naptowner was the two-minute rounds, imposed as an experiment to see if more action could be brought about. The two-minute round surely helped the blurry-eyed Latson in the second heat.

Johnson Beats Warren
In the semi-windup Willie Johnson, Louisville middleweight, scored a unanimous decision over Indianapolis' George Warren in six rounds. Johnson slowed up considerably in the closing rounds after starting fast and putting Warren in trouble in the first few stanzas.

All the four-round preliminary bouts ended in knockouts. Cliff Fossman, 156, Indianapolis, KO'd Robert Twiss, 159½, Logansport, at 1:12 of the fourth round. James Cousins, 152½, Indianapolis, KO'd Harry Szerzinski, St. Louis, at :58 of the second round. Johnny Tabbs, 155, St. Louis, KO'd Bill Bowles, 159, Amarillo, Tex., at 1:58 of the second round. Chuck McGow, 130½, Indianapolis, KO'd John Baker, 131, Louisville, at 1:16 of the third round.

Morris Back Friday
George Morris, promising Louisville featherweight who beat Chuck McGow, state champ in this division, was to be up again this week too, this time against Tom Ferrara of Chicago, in a four-rounder.

Sylvester Simmons, who in his last fight here lost in a bid to dethrone state lightweight king, Gene Parker, had Sidney Caple, Chicago in the semi-windup six-rounder. Caple dropped one and drew one with Parker.

In other action: Red Lasseur, Detroit, and Tom Salitto, Chicago, were up for four, and Bob Roberts, Indianapolis, was to take on Grady Caple, Chicago, in a four-rounder. Another four round match was scheduled but the opponents hadn't been named earlier this week.

Pro Cager, Lloyd Must Report to His Draft Board

Earl Lloyd, one of the three Negroes to play in the National Basketball Association, has been called from his forward position on the Washington Capitols to a front line position in the Army.

The former West Virginia State College star was ordered to report to his Alexandria (Va.) draft board for Army induction Nov. 16.

Fun Bowl Kegler Sets Pace in News' Tourney Qualifications

By JIM CUMMINGS

William Brown, assistant manager of Sea Ferguson's Fun Bowl and one of the nation's outstanding sepi bowlers, came into his own among city bowlers last week-end as he posted the highest score of all qualifiers in the Indianapolis News' annual city-wide bowling tournament qualifications.

Brown, rolling on his home alleys along with 29 other entrants, shot a blazing 1,311 in six games averaging 218 and leading all the bowlers attempting to qualify in his and 13 other houses.

Brown scored his leading count on games of 235, 204, 192, 201, 257 and 222.

Brown's showing doesn't mean that he will enter the finals of the tournament, to be held next month, with the highest qualifying mark because qualifications are yet to be completed in other houses. All qualification will be finished this week-end.

William Gooch and Alvin Gaddie also qualified at the Fun Bowl. Gaddie hit for 1187 and Gooch scored 1161, the former posting a 197 average and the latter, 193. Gaddie carries a 190 average in a Fun Bowl league and Gooch, a 195 average.

Brown, 24-year-old pinman who placed high in the last five years in practically every big Negro tournament in the country, carries a 211 average in the Fun Bowl's Classic League. His league average is highest in all city league play.

Brown was runner-up in the national match-game championships at Detroit in 1948 and won "all events" that same year, shooting 1,994 in nine games, averaging 221.

He placed second in Sea's Classic last year. The local tournament attracts bowlers from all over the country.

In 1947 Brown and Sea H. Ferguson placed third in the National Doubles.

The youthful star is the owner of two "perfect" 300 games. He bowled both at the Fun Bowl. Brown told The Recorder that he hasn't bowled in any "Negro" tournaments this year for fear that it might jeopardize his membership in the American Bowling Congress, which opened its membership to Negroes for the first time, this year.

Negro Tourneys Failing
He said the Fun Bowl is the only Negro-owned and operated bowling house in the country that is sanctioned by the ABC. As a result, he asserted, the Negro houses are losing on tournaments.

He noted that a recent tourney at Cleveland attracted only 32 entrants. Most of the bowlers are taking ABC memberships but none of the houses are passing the ABC inspections, apparently, Brown commented.

ABC members won't bowl in a house that isn't sanctioned by the

WILLIAM BROWN

Congress.
This is the first time in the seven-year history of the News tournament that Negroes have been able to participate. This was due to the fact that Negroes, until then, had not been members of the ABC and the tournament was open to ABC members only.

Tiger Net Squad Opens Season Here, Sat. Nite

The Crispus Attucks Tigers have made the change-over from football to basketball and after a game with Sheridan on Tuesday, were scheduled to put in their first appearance before the hometown fans Saturday night.

With a spanking new coach in Ray Crowe and a bunch of recently-elevated reserves from last year's squad, the Tigers were to spread out the welcome mat to Swayzee. The contest was slated for Washington high school's boards, in the gym at 2215 West Washington street.

With three of the "first five" back from last year and some good-looking new height on the roster, the Tigers were expected to have another banner season.

Big Robert Jewell, six-foot-five-inch, 189-pound center, John Davis, six-foot-two-inch guard, and Benny Cook, five-foot-eleven-inch guard, are all back in the Tiger lineup. They, together with Donald Thomas and Kenneth Wilson, made up the first team last year.

Cook, in the early part of the season, led the team in scoring. Jewell, in his best moments, was one of the best centers in town, and Davis was a wizard on defense and provided a hard scoring punch in the clinches.

The 1950-51 roster, released recently by Crowe, includes DeJuan Boyd, Leon Bradley, Hallie Bryant, Charles Cook, Leahman Covington, Russell Creighton, William Mitchell, Larry O'Bannon, Bailey Robertson, Robert Parrish, Charles Toliver and Stanley Warren.

The rest of the schedule is as follows:
Dec. 8, Rensselaer at Attucks;
Dec. 8, Hope at Attucks; Dec. 19, Broad Ripple and Attucks at Tech;
Dec. 20, Howe and Attucks at Tech;
Jan. 5, Attucks at Pine Village;
Jan. 6, Rossville at Attucks;
Jan. 11, Warren Central and Attucks at Tech;
Jan. 13, Decatur Central and Attucks at Howe;
Jan. 19, Monrovia at Attucks;
Jan. 20, Tech tournament (Sacred Heart, Attucks, Manual and the Deaf School);
Jan. 24, Attucks and Shortridge at Tech;
Feb. 2, Attucks at Sacred Heart;
Feb. 3, Attucks at Northwestern (Howard County);
Feb. 7, Attucks and Cathedral at Tech;
Feb. 16, New Winchester at Attucks.

The Sectionals begin Feb. 21 at Butler Fieldhouse.

Ex-Duquesne Ace Cager Crashes Bias Of NBA Circuit

"CHUCK" COOPER

Charley "Chuck" Cooper, All-American basketball player from Duquesne University, recently beat the bias front in the sports world when he bounced into the National Basketball Association.

The first string center on Chuck Taylor's All-American team last season, Cooper is the first Negro to be taken into big league basketball.

The color line faded in major league basketball when Boston Celtics owner Walter Brown made "Chuck" his No. 2 draft choice. "Boston takes Cooper of Duquesne," Brown bluntly informed

Bowling News

By NETTIE GEE

There are three teams holding first place in the Ladies' League with 20 games won each, the Bomb-sighters, Avenue Inn and Taylor's Champs, scheduled to enter into the big doings on Thursday night.

Pat's Place team is holding second place with 18 games won, Wickliff Cleaners holds third place with 17 games and Perkins Food Market fourth place 16 games won.

The King and King Funeral Home team showed off with some new very smart bowling togs last week. The uniforms were something quite different from any others. They sported navy blue shirts and orange collars. It is said that the girl members of the team made the uniforms appear very smart.

The former champion of the Ladies' League at the Fun Bowl, Mrs. Gladys Chestnut Jones, Chicago, was a recent guest at the Fun Bowl. She says that fellow keglars of the "Windy City" read this column every week and say they enjoy it. I am sorry that we cannot boast along with those fine bowlers of the N. B. A. because we are International Bowlers and they are still with the N. B. A.

The Gray, Gribben and Gray team still holds first place in the Commercial League by two games. Stuart's Mortuary and Myers' are tied for first place in the Social League. Sea's Champs lead the Classic League, trailed by Oscar's Loan team.

Not knowing how to follow up here, it seems funny that we always want things and when we get them we find out that we do not want them at all. The reason we note this is that not a single woman from the Fun Bowl will bowl in the Indianapolis News' tournament. WHY? I wonder myself. It could not be because they could not afford the entry fee. Women from business circles, musicians, teachers and others holding good paying positions or jobs bowl at the Fun Bowl.

I wonder if it is because they are afraid to compete with other good women bowlers of the city, if not then what?

Men at the Fun Bowl qualified for the Indianapolis News' tournament last Sunday. William Brown was high with 1311 for a six-game total; Alvin Gaddie, 1187, and William Gooch 1171.

These bowlers will bowl against bowlers from various bowling alleys of the city Dec. 2-3. The place to be designated.

Three more stars have been added for ladies in the "500" class: Eva Turner, 513; Dorothy Davies, 513, and Betty Taylor, 505. William Brown won thirty dollars in qualifying games; Roy Street, second place, twenty dollars, and Alvin Gaddie, third place, eight dollars, all with handicaps.

DEATH WROTE FINIS to the colorful life of William Benbow, internationally known producer and showman last Saturday afternoon in the serenity of his home in 1831 Carrollton Avenue. . . . Funeral services were held from the C. M. C. Willis Mortuary Wednesday at 1 P. M. The Rev. J. A. Dames officiating. . . . Burial was in Crown Hill. . . . Mr. Benbow had lived an extremely colorful life and was widely known both as a writer and producer of shows. . . . He is reputed to be the first Negro to take a show outside of the continental United States. . . . And is also given credit for helping such outstanding entertainers and musicians as Duke Ellington, Ethel Waters, Buck and Bubbles, Josephine Baker, Butterbeans and Susie when they were trying to get a foothold in the entertainment world. . . . Hundreds of local and nationally known entertainers owe their success to Mr. Benbow, the man who was never too busy to help a young or old performer. . . . His death came as a shock to his hundreds of friends in and out of the profession. . . . We owe the jolly old man a debt of gratitude for his appearances (though sick) on The Recorder Christmas shows. . . . He always told us "the show must go on." Benbow was a colorful promoter — booking road shows all over the country regardless of the season of the year. . . . Show bizness was a part of him — and he lived it. . . . He loved to write about show bizness and conducted a column for these pages titled: "Down Memory Lane," which caused quite a bit of comment among the older generation. . . . While confined to his sick bed, he would call us an ask whether or not he had time make the deadline. A great showman and a real trouper he never defaulted, even when the chips were down. . . . He always saw a ray of hope for himself and for others. . . . Benbow was a 32nd degree Mason and an Elk. . . . He cherished his membership in these fraternal organizations, and often told of the time when his Masonic pin saved his life in the deep South. . . . Born 68 years ago in Montgomery, Ala. Benbow had spent the greater part of his life as a trouper. . . . His article on "Show Bizness" written for The Recorder special edition revealed his knowledge of the profession and those connected with it. . . . It was indeed a gem. . . . He shall forever live in the memory of hundreds of performers all over the nation. (See main story on page one and on these pages).

A NICE letter jumps in from Leo Lesser Jr. from Ft. Lewis, Wash. Mr. Lesser, former mgr. of Ferguson Hotel sends regards to all the gang, and wants them to know that he's doing a bang-up job in Uncle Sam's Army. . . . You can write him as follows: Pfc. Leo Lesser Jr., ER 15205862, "D" Battery, 95th AAA Gun Bn., 2nd Platoon, Fort Lewis, Wash. Space limitations forbids running his letter in full.

GOSSIP ALONG the Main Stem has it that Quincy Ayles, popular and well-dressed vocalist, is rumored to be married soon. Wonder who the lucky young lady is? . . . Edgar Glover of 1434 Cottage Grove in Chicago was in town several days back visiting with Daniel (Poot Eye) Macon in 705 Senate Ave. . . . Lovely Margaret (Ted) Ferguson is back in town from Dayton and is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hammond in the Avondale Apts. . . . The young lady is getting a grand play from the Avenue playboys. . . . Which brings to mind that Mr. Hammond has opened his shoe repair shop at 517 Indiana, across the street from where this is being written. . . . Eddie has been in the location only 3 wks. and his legion of friends are really coming in with those shoes to men. . . . The fella really knows his stuff and would appreciate his friends spending at least a rough. . . . Drop in and wish the fella well — I'd be a good deal.

HIAWATHA (fite mgr.) Gray and Raymond Brown are back from St. Louis where they spent several days conditioning Archie Moore, light-heavy contender for a fite that didn't come off because they could not find a suitable opponent for the up-and-coming Archie. A nice card came in from George Gibson, the dancin' waiter from San Diego, Calif., where the fella is playing the Hollywood theater for 2 wks. Sends regards to gang. . . . Playgirl Eunice Carr sent us a card while basking in the hospitality of Nashville and Christiana, Tenn. and said she wished we were there to enjoy some of that good old country ham with all the trimmings. . . . Dontchaknow we wish so too? . . . The young lady and her mother returned a few days back. . . . Jimmy Payne and Joe Breaux were in town t'other nite from Grand Rapids, Mich., where they are in the juke box and promoting bizz respectively. . . . The Indianapolis All-Stars Sports and Social Club will sponsor a booster dance at the Masonic Hall, Thursday nite, December 7 from 9 till? Admission is 50 cents. . . . Herman Booker of Terre Haute, who died in General Hospital last Monday, was buried last Friday in that city. Booker was well known here where he had hundreds of friends.

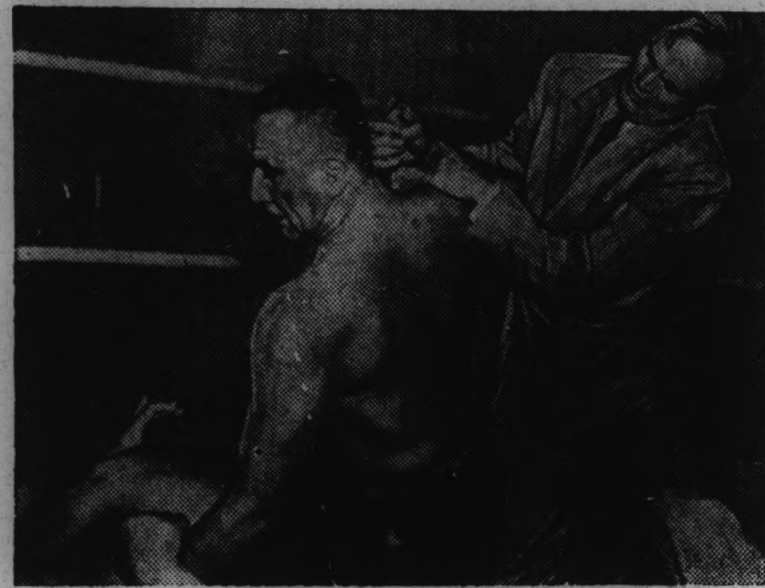

The Past Exalted Rulers Alpine Club and the Gaiety Girls of Indiana Elks Lodge 104 are sponsoring a Clothe-A-Child dance at the Masonic Hall on Friday nite, December 15 with music by Bob Womack's Bobcats orchestra. Admission is 65 cents. General public is cordially invited to come out and help this worthy cause. The well-known and popular Betty Taft and her hubby were out socializing this past Saturday. Good folks to see at any time. . . . The Sea Fergusons will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary come Sunday, Nov. 26.

Mr. Carl Butler
C/O The Saint
Indianapolis Recorder

My Dear Mr. Butler:
In reply to yours, I must say my letter was not published in its entirety. I do not know, nor do I wish to believe that your company or any company's official is, or intends to dupe the general public, but I did say and I still say that I took a cab half-way between Michigan street and Senate avenue at 25c, 35c or a $1.05 it doesn't make any difference. The point you seem to have missed is, the fact that at the end of Walker Bldg. the meter jumped 10c more.

Now all I'd like to know is, if it is  $\frac{3}{4}$  of a mile in that distance? No, Mr. Butler, I am fully aware of the fare increase because I ride the cab more than any other conveyance, believe it or not. No I do not in end to give the impression of anything. I'm only stating facts that actually happen. I'm not one to quibble over pennies, if a man tells me he sells a 5c bag of peanuts for 10c I take it or leave it and say nothing. But, if he tells me his peanuts are 5c and then tries to charge me 6c I'm sore, wouldn't you be? Yes, I thought that the cabs were inspected but so are automobile brakes which sometimes are not applied in time by the driver.

RICHARD WIDMARK as a crooked promoter tries to stop wrestler Mike Mazurki from killing his opponent in the ring in this tense scene from "Night and the City," which starts Sunday at the Walker.

AID SPURNED by Lloyd Bridges in the climax of "The White Tower" has tragic import. The RKO drama filmed on Mont Blanc, and in color, also stars Claude Rains and Oscar Homolka, and starts Sunday at the Avenue.

TWO BIG HITS BOOKED SUN. AT YOUR AVENUE THEATER

Man's struggle against Nature is the dramatic basis of "The White Tower," RKO Radio's striking new drama in color by Technicolor.

With Glenn Ford, Valli, Claude Rains and Oscar Homolka in the stellar roles, the story revolves around the attempt of a sextet of mountaineers to scale a baffling Alpine peak. Climbing scenes, actually filmed on the glaciers and snowfields of France's Mont Blanc, give the picture exceptional realism.

Ford, as a young American adventurer, and Miss Valli as an Italian girl have the romantic leads in the offering, with Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Lloyd Bridges, June Clayworth and Lotte Stein heading the featured cast.

ALSO SHOWING — Out of pictures for three years, Phil Regan, famous Irish singer and actor, returns to the screen as "himself" in "Three Little Words," MGM's big Technicolor musical, coming to the Avenue theatre.

Regan, who rose from chauffeur to court clerk to New York detective, and then took up voice training, began his singing career with the Columbia Broadcasting System.

"Sierra" and "Night in the City" at Walker Sunday

'Kiss Tomorrow Goodbye' Opens at Park Tues.

Blonde and beautiful Barbara Payton is really rooting for medical science to beat the common cold, after it almost beat her out of a chance for screen stardom.

Barbara got the opportunity of a lifetime when she was signed to play James Cagney's leading lady in "Kiss Tomorrow Goodbye," the Warner Bros. release, opening at the Park Theatre on Tuesday. Then, on the day the picture started, poor Barbara caught cold. "I was wild with fear that I'd have to take to my bed, and I could just see someone else getting my part. But I started right to work on that cold. First came the doctor, who gave me a shot of penicillin. Then I surrounded myself with throat spray, hot water bottles, pills and tablets of all descriptions. I drank orange juice by the quart."

CAL. SUES FOR SEIZURE OF "LADY DAY'S" CAR

LOS ANGELES (ANP) — The state of California filed a suit last week to seize the $5,000 custom-built sedan belonging to Billie "Lady Day" Holiday, which had been impounded last Oct. 8 when her chauffeur, Amos Cook, was arrested on a charge of possession of narcotics.

Under California law, any vehicle used for transporting narcotics, may be seized by the state. Cook, however, has stated that Miss Holiday had no knowledge of his operations. The car is royal blue in color, with a cream-colored leatherette top.

I'm sorry to say Mr. Butler, that the proposition which you propose is utterly impossible. It's like the old speak-easy days: after the light flashes everything is cleared up.

But, Mr. Butler isn't it possible to let the meter run a while then stop it without cutting it off completely? Then when someone gets into said cab the meter is thrown into action with a percentage of that  $\frac{3}{4}$ -mile already used up?

I'm just asking sir. If not, sir, there is something radically wrong somewhere? For a really good test, the general public can be the judges. I ask everyone who rides a cab to remember the distance and the fares in both cabs, and prove to their own satisfaction, not mine, I'm already convinced. Please Mr. Butler do not get me completely wrong, as you seem to have already. I don't believe all cab drivers are doing underhanded things, I firmly believe that there are some people who want to do right by other people.

Thanking you sir for your nice reply, in the public interest, I'm

Yours truly,
Mr. Wm. Pettie

mark, German, Italy, France, Gambia, Sierra Leone, Liberia, the Gold Coast, Nigeria, and the Belgian Congo. Dr. Patterson on this tour wants to learn more about the world of color. His trip is being sponsored by the Phelps-Stokes fund he is a member of the board and Tuskegee. Of his trip Dr. Patterson said:

"The shrinking size of the world and the growing dependence of peoples of all colors, races, and creeds upon one another makes it imperative for an educator to gain an intimate and first-hand knowledge of the world. I am particularly interested in the world of color. Africa is emerging rapidly. Craftsmen and skilled artisans will play a large part in this continent's development. Many Africans will be sent to the United States for training. Appreciation of their problems and background will be helpful to educators who will teach them here."

Wm. Benbow's Death Recalls Memories of Show Bizz

Started As Cake Walker
Mr. Benbow started in show business as a Cake Walker in 1897. At that time the late Bert Williams, George Walker and Lottie Williams had made Cake Walking famous. They were being featured by the Old Virginia Cheroots Tobacco Company. Benbow won his first contest from Hunter Hayes, the champion of Georgia. In subsequent contests he won over Roland Stanley in Nashville, Tenn.; Tom Cross in Chattanooga, Tenn.; and Charley Ball in Pensacola, Fla. By this time he had made a name for himself as a Cake Walker and was ready for the great Williams and Walker. But he didn't get the break, because at this time the Spanish-American War broke out, and he enlisted in the Army.

Toured The South
Following the close of the war and after receiving an honorable discharge he teamed up with Bill Cheatham, who had gained fame on the Rosco and Holland Georgia Minstrels. They formed a stock company and toured the coal fields of Alabama and Tennessee. The stock company was known as Cheatham and Benbow's Fun Makers. Top salaries at that time were $5.00 a week. The company was stranded in Selma, Ala. on Nov. 15, 1900. Benbow then jumped to Cincinnati, where he met the great Bert Williams. Things were too tough in Cincinnati at that time, so Benbow came to Indianapolis and tried to get a job on "Old Kentucky," but as he was not a buck-and-wing dancer, he was turned down. He headed back South, where the field was always open for performers. At that time there were such shows traveling as Cole and Johnson's Shu Fli Regiment, Ernest Hogan's Oyster Man, Williams and Walker, Slater's Jubilee Singers and Pringle's Georgia Minstrels, headed by Billy Ker-sand.

Benbow then went to Pensacola, Fla., where he operated the Honk-atonk theater. Later he joined the Jolly John Larkins-Royal Sam Company.

He later discovered the Watts

Brothers, acrobats in New Orleans. He also discovered Stringbeans in Montgomery and formed the act of Benbow and Stringbeans. He first met Irvin C. Miller while running the Globe Theater in New Orleans. Later they met again in Atlanta, Ga., where Benbow was working with Ester Bijou and doing the Texas Tommie dance. On the same bill were Leigh Whipper, now of the stage and movies and Virginia Wheeler.

Meets Clarence Muse
He first met Clarence Muse in Hot Springs with the George Freeman Stock Company at the Majestic Theater, which he had been sent to take over. He also remembered first meeting John T. Gibson, who ran a small theater called the North Pole in Philly, and worked there for $29 a week before the opening of Gibson's Standard Theater, which was considered at one time the top house for colored people in the country.

Later he became contact man for the eastern end of the TOBA Circuit for his lifetime friend, S. H. Dudley. With Dudley they produced a show called the "Darktown Follies," which opened at the Lafayette Theater in New York City. He later met Silque Bates, messenger for the late Mayor Tyn-dall of Indianapolis. He then organized with Sid Perin Benbow's and Perin's New York Follies with Iris Hall, the first colored woman to appear in silent pictures.

Gives Duke Ellington Chance
He then organized a company called the Black Sensation and traveled south over the TOBA Circuit. He then went to Texas, where he met his wife, Mrs. Margie Benbow, who was there on a visit from her home in North Dakota. He closed his show in Dallas and opened the Poodle Cabaret in Washington, where Duke Ellington got his start playing the piano.

Tour Latin America
He later organized a company of 35 people and went to Cuba, and from there to Central and South America, where he toured and played for 12 years.

He is reputed to be the only colored man who carried his own show to foreign countries without a white man being connected with it.

His advice to young entertainers was to stop devoting all of their time to singing and dancing acts. Build novelty acts, build dramatic sketches, build high-class

Young Robeson Denied Passport To Visit England

WASHINGTON (ANP) — The State Department was charged this week with exercising a police state action by denying a passport to Paul Robeson Jr., son of the noted singer, and several other persons who attend the Second World Peace Congress in Sheffield, England.

Prof. Joseph Fletcher of the Episcopal Theological Seminary, Cambridge, Mass., vigorously denounced the department's action as "a form of house arrest."

"It is an action bordering on rudeness upon the nature of a police-state arbitrariness of government," he declared.

Prof. Fletcher, speaking as a chairman of American-Sponsored Committee for Representation at the Second World Peace Congress, was supported by other members of the committee including:

The Rt. Rev. W. Appleton Lawrence, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Western Massachusetts; concert pianist Arthur Schnabel; the Rt. Rev. Benjamin D. Dagwell, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Portland, Oregon; atomic scientist, Philip Morrison; the Rev. John Paul Jones, chairman of the New York Civil Liberties Union, and 25 others.

"Con Game" Workers Fail on Trick; Found Guilty in Mississippi Court

JACKSON, Miss. (ANP) — The state supreme court ruled here last week that operators of a "pigeon drop" scheme are guilty of attempted larceny, even if they fail to pull off the game successfully.

The ruling was handed down in the case of Mrs. Marie Williams of Vicksburg, found guilty of attempted larceny and sentenced to three years in prison by a Warren county circuit court.

Mrs. Williams and another woman were accused of attempting to persuade Mrs. Tillie Jackson to part with $100 in one-dollar bills, in order to claim $105 which they claimed they held.

A dress shop was designated as the meeting place for the split. Mrs. Jackson started toward the bank to get the $100. However, she found a policeman on the way and told him of the fast hitch the two women sought to pull.

She returned to the store with the officers and pointed out the women to them.

In its opinion, the state court voted that the two operators of the "con" game evidently suspected a double-cross, for when they went into the dress shop they asked the proprietor to let them go out the back way. This was denied, so the two women pretended to look at certain dresses.
